Moran Milan, younger brother of Bob Milan, the Griffmen's starting outfielder, has been ordered to report to the Washington club. He is expected to arrive here tomorrow, and will be sent to left field for immediate trial.

Young Milan has been playing good ball for the Newark Nationals, and Manager Griffith is convinced that he is of some value to the Griffmen now. Shanks' sore arm is believed to have something to do with Griffith's decision to call Milan back.

Shanks is suffering excruciating pain every time he attempts to throw a ball. Though in no condition to take part in the daily contests at Georgia avenue, Shanks insists on playing. As soon as Milan arrives, however, he will be sent to left field in place of Shanks.

The Cleveland Indians will be here tomorrow, and then will come the real fight for honors in the American League. Four games will be played here, and on Sunday both teams will battle in Cleveland. These five games will have considerable bearing on the present standing in the league.

Ty Cobb, probably because he is a star of the first magnitude, is allowed more leeway on the field than any other player in the game receives. An example of this was given to the fans yesterday in the sixth inning.

The Georgia Peach stole second, the throw rolling to Milan. Cobb rounded the bag and was nipped by Milan's speedy return to McBride. But the Jungler didn't leave the bag until he had told Bill Dineen all about it and had dusted himself off. On his way to the dugout he commended with McBride and Foster.

Fully two minutes were wasted by Cobb in utter disregard of the rules of the league. However, the umpires are to blame for slow ball games in this league. The rules are plain, but not enforced.

The judgment of Umpire Nallin hardly seems to suit the day or fan. It is doubtful if any official seen here this season has been so consistently poor, not even "Rags" O'Loughlin or "Old" Chief.

Fielder Jones has protested the Mackmen's victory of Tuesday. Jimmy Walsh was put off the bench in the first game and then permitted to play in the second one. So Jones is entitled to believe he is right and entitled to another whack at the Mackmen, protests to Ban Johnson.

No protests are allowed in the American League. None ever has been allowed. None ever will be allowed while Ban Johnson rules the organization.

That old weakness, lack of garnering the swat, brought another defeat to the Griffmen yesterday. The Tigers seized the victory, 4 to 2. The home boys made four hits and, but for some painful pegging by Harry Heilman, would have been shut out. Moeller and Foster crossed the pan in the hectic sixth because to Milan couldn't confine his throws to the playing space.

Though lack of hitting was the basis of the Griffmen's failure to land, extreme generosity on the part of the resident hurlers was costly. The Tigers received nine free passes, four of which were turned into runs.

A little skill stuff by Rippy Williams also figured in the run-getting, but really that was a matter of minor importance in the face of the weakness of the Griffmen against Harry Coveleskie.

Cobb walked in the second, went up on Veatch's infield hit, and both advanced on Burns' sacrifice. Young's pass filled the sacks. Baker bounced to Williams. Cobb might have been nailed at the plate, but Rippy couldn't think of being so cruel. He preferred to head off Young at second. He did, Cobb scoring. Harper had to whiff Coveleskie to end the inning.

The grand old hurling of Harry Heilman gave the Griff men two runs and the lead in the sixth. Sawyer beat out one to Vitt. Jamieson, hitting for Harper, forced Sawyer, and Moeller did as much for "Cuckoo."

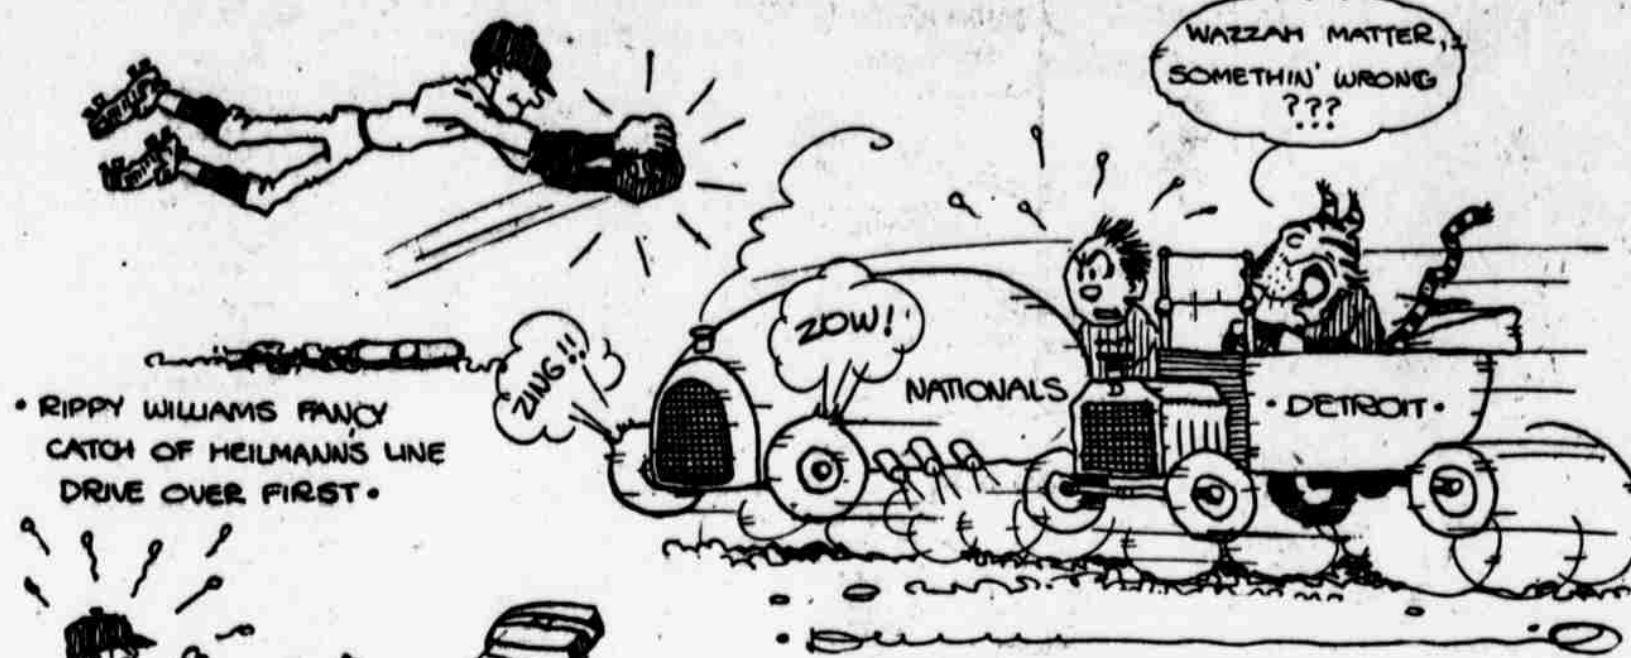

Foster poked a safety to right. Moeller straggled around to third. Heilman pulled a mighty heave and Moeller scored. Foster camping on second, Milan stopped a pitched ball with his body. Williams singled to right and, seizing his opportunity, Heilman flung the ball to the stand. Foster scoring. Shanks walked, but Henry's strikeout cut off the excited cheers of the multitude.

Dumont climbed to the hill in the seventh and escaped with his life. But they got to him in the eighth and after he passed Crawford, up for Bush, and Heilman, he drifted out of the picture to let Gallia take up the job.

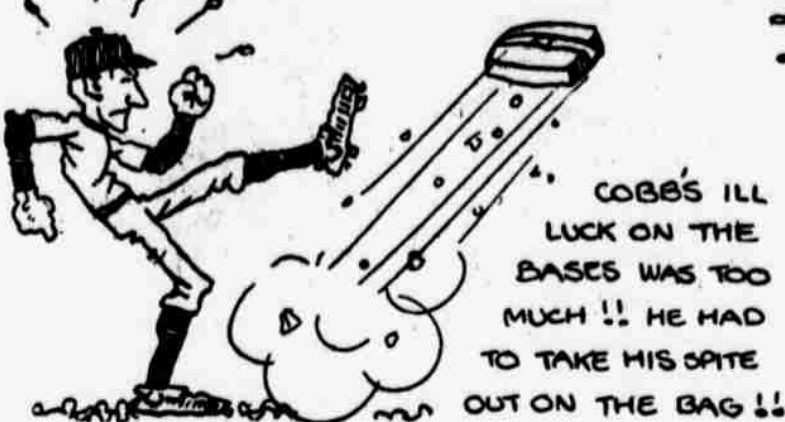

Jennings let Boland run for Crawford from first to second and then whacked him out. Fuller proceeding from that point, Ty Cobb dumped a sacrifice and Veatch's intentional walk filled the bases. The Griff men fell back for a double play, figuring on the reputed slowness of Burns.

An attempt to catch Fuller napping off second went by the board and Gal-

Mack Still Searches For Promising Rooks

Collegians Are Not Sufficiently Advanced to Take Their Places in the Major League—Connie's Plans Go Bad When Injuries Happen.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—So far as can be seen in the playing of the collegians brought here recently by Manager Mack, they are not sufficiently advanced in their baseball education to strengthen the Athletics to any appreciable extent. Some of the youngsters have natural ability, but to look for them to start right in like real major leaguers is the same as expecting a child to do a man's work.

That the collegians possess natural ability is certain, but how far their natural ability will carry them with the splendid tuition that they will receive at Mack College cannot be told. It has never been Manager Mack's policy to try to force along a youngster too fast. He likes to get the material young and then have the lads sit on the bench and watch others perform. Connie also likes to give his new players a chance to play in different positions. It was in this way that he developed McInnis and Eddie Collins, and turned Danny Murphy from a fair second baseman into the greatest right fielder in the country.

Unfortunately for Connie, his plans for the 1916 season have nearly all gone wrong. McInnis has been out about one-half his usual gait. Oldring, retired and Wyckoff and Bressler finished. All of these players had been counted upon to be of valuable service in the days when Connie was rounding out his new aggregation.

When the collegians reported they were out of condition, and Manager Mack, who had planned not to use some of them for ten days or two weeks after they put on the White Sox uniform, was compelled to send some of them into the games at once. Lack of condition has probably handicapped some of the boys and prevented them from making as good an impression as they probably might have done had they been able to watch a few games and practice only in the morning.

That Connie is not as well satisfied with some of his material as he had anticipated is shown by the fact that he has been out scouting for some time and Captain Davis has been on the still hunt for talent for several days. Connie, it is reported, started on the trail himself on Saturday to look over some promising material.

Mittling, formerly of Ursinus College, looks to be about as promising as any of the youngsters tried out. He has shown a lot of speed in the field, and he hits the ball hard, although he would probably do much better if straightened up instead of crouching while at bat. McInnis' charity horse caused Manager Mack to use four men at first base last week and King, who is rated as an outfielder rather than an infielder, was forced to play shortstop owing to the injury to Witt.

Where the new players have been shy has been in hitting ability. It must be remembered, though, that these boys are now seeing a better brand of twirling than they ever looked at. It is not surprising that none of these reputed hitters had to put the next one over. Burns slammed it to left for one corner, scoring Fuller and Heilman. While Sawyer was tossing out Young Veatch went over.

Here it is, the sad stuff:

CUBS PAY $15,000 FOR AN OUTFIELDER

CHICAGO, July 12.—The Chicago Nationals today purchased Joe Kelly, Indianapolis outfielder. In exchange the Indianapolis club will receive a cash sum of between $12,000 and $15,000 and two players yet to be named.

Kelly is expected to join the Cubs tomorrow. He is a right-handed batter who hit .300 last year and led the American Association in base stealing, with sixty-one thefts. So far this season he is hitting about .300.

HERZOG PREFERS TO JOIN THE DODGERS

Manager of Cincinnati Reds Figures on Getting Piece of Big Series Coin.

CINCINNATI, July 12.—Charley Herzog, manager of the Reds, will probably be sold or traded to the Brooklyn Dodgers within the next forty-eight hours, according to a friend of the infielder, who tonight declared that Charley had tipped him off to this effect.

Garry Herrman, owner of the Cincinnati club, informed Herzog a week ago that Charley had the privilege of going with any club he desired," said Herzog's friend. "He figures the Dodgers will surely win the pennant, especially if he lands with the team, and naturally he prefers being with the team that will grab some world's series money."

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, is very anxious to land Herzog, and they have met frequently during the last two days. It is said McGraw is willing to offer Herzog a contract which will insure him as much money if the Giants don't win the pennant as he would get with the Dodgers if that team gets into the world's series.

All deals which may bring needed talent to the Giants are for the moment pending. However, "Slim" Sallee, of the Cardinals, may be a member of the New York pitching staff by tomorrow. McGraw said today that the thing ought to be settled one way or the other by tomorrow morning.

"We have accepted the St. Louis terms for Sallee," explained the Giant manager. "But it seems they have not decided whether they are going to let us have him, or another club, which is after him. We are to know tomorrow."

When asked if he was dickering for Herzog, McGraw replied: "I must decline to answer that question." Garry Herrman is in Baltimore. He will be back Thursday, and then the Herzog proposition is likely to come to a definite issue one way or another.

Christy Mathewson is on the shelf indefinitely. "I couldn't pitch up an alley," was the way Matty put it today. Peritt has a lame foot; Tesreau is nursing an ailing arm for a few days; Schupp suffers from excessive nervousness, or something akin to that when on the mound; Schupp is uncertain, and "Pie" Way is as yet a tyro, though willing to tackle the mound job any time. For the present therefore, McGraw's pitching staff is limited to Anderson and Benton.

Brownies Win Pair From Connie's Outfit

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—As if peeved over their defeat of the day before, the Brownies turned on the bewilderment machine yesterday and slammed them to the ground, winning in one afternoon. Eddie Plank triumphed in the first clash, 5 to 3, and Elmer Myers was defeated in ten innings in the second game, 1 to 1.

CLEVELAND INDIANS WIN FROM YANKEES

Take Four Out of Five With But Three Regular Pitchers in Form.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Showing that nothing is impossible to a team with a fighting heart, the Cleveland Indians have taken four out of five games from the New York Yankees on the Yankees' grounds since Sunday, and today lead the league by a scant margin of half a game.

On paper the Yanks should have fattened at the expense of the Forest City club swingers. They had eight pitchers all ready for action—Cleveland had but three of its consistent winners in shape ready for all hazards. The Yanks were up and coming strong, while Cleveland, leading most of the time since the opening of the season, was supposed to have been pretty well shot. But they were far from it.

Another double bill yesterday saw the Indians take two victories. Jim Bagby fought a great pitching duel with Ray Caldwell in the first one, winning 1 to 0. In the second contest Plank held his own until the eighth. Then the enemy pounced upon him and scored four runs, winning 5 to 3.

More than 15,000 fans turned out to see the double-header, and not one of that big crowd left before the last athlete perished in the ninth.

The Indians scored their lone run in the opening game when Chapman and Turner singled. Daily hit into a double play, allowing Chapman to score.

Fisher willed in the eighth inning of the night-cap contest. Wamby singled and Speaker tripped. Smith singled, and Chapman tripled. An infield out let Chapman score the fourth run of the frame. Score by innings:
